Risks and considerations

Delays on the 737, 777X and 787 programs have resulted in customers having rights to terminate orders, be compensated for late deliveries or substitute orders.

Planned production rate increases may be delayed or not occur if production health KPIs do not support them or FAA concurrence is not obtained.

Approximately 72,000 employees, or 40% of the total workforce, were union represented as of December 31, 2025.
